

Theory Mastery Day took place Saturday, February 8, at Kenmore Middle School in Arlington. We were concerned about a possible cancellation and rescheduling on our snow date because of predicted snow and freezing rain, but the weather cooperated and it all ran smoothly.

We had 31 participating teachers, with 306 students enrolled. The students did quite well overall -- 2/3 of our students received either Superior (95 - 100%) or Excellent (88 - 94%): 100 Superiors, 103 Excellents, 49 Very Goods, 23 Goods, 6 that simply Passed, and only 9 that did not pass their testing level. We had only 16 students absent.

This was my 8th year chairing TMD with my invaluable co-chairs, Maiko Chiba and David Kosutic. I look forward to serving as chair next year.
